

A conversation between angel and devil

Name:

Date:

DE Devil

Devil, we need to talk. Dorian's actions are becoming more and more reprehensible.

Oh, Angel, always so dramatic. Dorian is just living his life to the fullest.

But at what cost? He's hurting people left and right. And all for what? Eternal youth and beauty?

Beauty is power, Angel. You of all people should understand that.

But true beauty comes from within. The portrait is becoming more grotesque because of his ugly actions.

That's just a painting, it's not real. Dorian is still admired by everyone he meets.

But for how long? Eventually, his true nature will be revealed and he will be left with nothing.

He'll always have me. And as long as he does, he'll never be alone.

That's a cold comfort, Devil. I fear for Dorian's soul.

Souls are overrated. He's living his best life, and that's all that matters.

I disagree. His decisions are leading him down a dark path. We need to guide him back to the light.

Good luck with that, Angel. Dorian is mine.
