

Writing a review

Name:

Date:

What is a review?

A review is a critical evaluation of a product, service, or creative work. It includes the reviewer's opinion and analysis of the subject.

What do you call the type of review that talks about how good or bad a movie is?

Film Review

Can you name the type of review that gives feedback on a new restaurant in town?

What's the name of the review that evaluates the latest smartphone release?

Do you know what type of review discusses the quality of a book?

What type of review would you write about your experience at a hotel?

Book Review: "The Fault in Our Stars" by John Green

"The Fault in Our Stars" is a heart-wrenching novel about two teenagers, Hazel Grace Lancaster and Augustus Waters, who fall in love while battling cancer. The story takes place in Indianapolis, where Hazel and Augustus meet at a support group for teens with cancer.

John Green's writing is raw and emotional, capturing the struggles and joys of young love in the face of a terminal illness. The characters are well-developed and relatable, with Hazel's witty and sarcastic narration adding a layer of humor to the otherwise heavy subject matter.

The plot is both beautiful and tragic, with unexpected twists that keep the reader engaged. The book explores themes of mortality, the meaning of life, and the impact of literature, as Hazel and Augustus bond over their shared love of books.

Overall, "The Fault in Our Stars" is a powerful and moving story that will resonate with readers of all ages. It's a book that will make you laugh, cry, and reflect on the preciousness of life.

Rating:

Write an evaluative essay about a product, book, or movie of your choice. Your review should include a title, introduction, summary and analysis, and a conclusion with a rating. Follow the instructions for each section to ensure your review is comprehensive and informative.

Title Create an eye-catching title that includes the type of product and its name. Think about what would make someone want to read your review.
Introduction Introduce the product you are reviewing. Mention what your review will focus on and the main components or features of the product.
Summary and analysis Give a brief summary of the product and analyze its most important aspects. Provide evidence or examples to support your analysis.
Conclusion and rating Conclude with your overall thoughts on the product and provide a rating out of 5 stars. Summarize the key points from your analysis that led to your rating.	